South Korea Division Chopped Up By Reds At Manchuria Border

(By The Associated Press)

SEOUL—Two Red divisions—reported made up mostly of Chinese Communists—drove to night on the Korean east coast city of Hamhung, far behind the slowing allied advance toward the Manchurian border.

South Korean republican officers said the counter-attacking force numbered more than 10,000 men and was 30 miles northwest of Hamhung. The Reds were reported well-organized and full of fight.

Situation Serious
This development came shortly after a U. S. 10th Corps spokesman said two Chinese regiments were in action in the same area—the first official word that a sizeable Chinese force was helping the desperate North Koreans.

Commenting on the Hamhung report—relayed by AP Correspondent Ben Price—the 10th Corps spokesman said it "is basically on the right track but the units in mention are larger than our information indicates."

Thus it still was not clear whether the South Korean report on the number of Chinese was exaggerated. However, Americans in the Korean military advisory group (KMAC) said they considered the situation serious.

Is It Intervention?

The enemy force was reported smashing at the flank of the South Korean 26th regiment about 10 miles south of the big Chosin hydro-electric reservoir. The reservoir is about 40 air miles south of the Manchurian border.

There still was no indication whether this was considered open intervention by Red China in the Korean war. Other official spokesmen earlier disclosed some individual Chinese had been captured. That was not regarded as intervention.

The most critical area in the blazing northwest front was near Onjong. U. S. tanks and artillery were rushed there to help the Republic of Korea (ROK) Sixth division. This is about 45 miles south of the border.

More than 10,000 Communists, reported to include some Chinese, chewed the division by one-third in three days of fighting and forced it to flee in disorder.

U. S. Casualties Heavy

But the Chinese regiment reported by the 10th Corps spokesman was pin-pointed in action in northwest Korea, south of the big Chosin hydro-electric plant reservoir about 40 miles south of the Manchurian border. The plant supplies vital electric power to Manchuria.

The ROK Third division was stalled in its push toward the reservoir from Hamhung, on the east.

Cargo For Red China Held Up

WILMINGTON, Del.—(AP)—The freighter Flying Cloud lay at anchor today while authorities decided the fate of a petroleum jelly cargo loaded aboard the vessel for shipment to Communist China.

Sixteen thousand gallons of the oil-base jelly, known commercially as petrolatum, were put on the Flying Cloud at Baltimore, Md., last week.

A similar quantity of the jelly—normally used for medical purposes but reportedly usable for machine lubrication—was to have been loaded on the vessel at Philadelphia.

Both Michael J. Bradley, collector of the port of Philadelphia, and Christopher Bejtman, representative of the firm that owns the Flying Cloud, said the export company handling the petrolatum decided not to ship to China.

From Wilmington, the freighter is due to go to New York, where an additional 21,000 gallons of petrolatum was to have been loaded for Red China.

Israel Parties Patch Up Scrap, Pave Way For Coalition Cabinet

JERUSALEM—(AP)—Warring Israeli political parties patched up their difficulties last night and paved the way for a new coalition cabinet. Their action forestalled the dissolution of the Knesset (parliament) and new general elections.

Premier David Ben-Gurion, (Labor) party leader who resigned two weeks ago, apparently is slated to head the new government. A Mapai party spokesman said the new cabinet lineup might be announced today.

An agreement between the Mapai and the religious bloc paved the way to an end to the Israeli cabinet crisis. Ben-Gurion had resigned after the bloc's three cabinet representatives refused to support government shifts the premier proposed to meet Israel's financial difficulties.

GUSTAF VI

GUSTAF V

NEW KING PROCLAIMED—Europe's oldest monarch, King Gustaf V of Sweden, died Sunday morning at the age of 92 and his son, Gustaf Adolf, 67, today was proclaimed "King of the Swedes, the Goths and the Wends." The aged king, who played tennis at 88 and hunted at 91, had ruled Sweden for 43 years.

Sweden In Mourning For King Gustaf, 92; Gustaf VI Reigns

STOCKHOLM, Sweden.—(AP)—Gustaf VI today was proclaimed "King of the Swedes the Goths and the Wends," the first new ruler to ascend the ancient Swedish throne in nearly half a century.

He succeeds his father, 92-year-old King Gustaf V, whose death yesterday morning after a reign of nearly 43 years plunged the nation into deepest mourning.

Queen British-Born

To all effects and purposes the son, born Prince Oscar Frederick Wilhelm Olaf Gustaf Adolf, has been Sweden's monarch since his father's death. But at colorful ceremonies today in the cabinet council room of Stockholm's royal palace he took the royal oath pledging himself to adhere strictly to the constitution and to rule "as a righteous king and gracious father of the Swedish people by a legal, just and mild government."

The new queen, British-born Louise, is the monarch's second wife. She is a sister of Earl Mountbatten and a great-granddaughter of England's Queen Victoria.

Crown Prince Only 4

The pair showed up at the Foodland Market, Inc., in suburban Dearborn Sunday night just as Manager Simon Kaplan and three clerks, one a woman, were locking up for the night.

Forcing their way into the store at gunpoint, they bound the clerks' hands and feet and locked them in the freezer, police were told.

Kaplan said the bandits ordered him to open the safe, and when he said he did not know how they forced him to telephone store owner David Goode and say he couldn't lock the door.

Goode, who reached the store with his wife a short time later, said the holdup men made him open the safe.

The men locked Goode and his wife in the freezer, then forced Kaplan to accompany them in his car. They left him at a lonely spot a mile from the store. His car later was found abandoned.

Kaplan said he returned to the store to release the prisoners and then called police.

She will stay with her niece, Mrs. John Troester, in Saginaw.

Rivers Break Over Banks In Sudden Deluge

Towns On California Border Isolated

PORTLAND, Ore.—(AP)—Storm swollen rivers that drove 2,000 persons from their southern Oregon mountain valley homes spilled seaward today. Their crests threatened new flooding of downstream lowlands.

Two persons have drowned and one man is missing in the week-end flooding. Scores of Oregon-California borderland towns and cities are isolated. Many rural families are marooned.

Rescued In Rowboats

The rivers burst their banks early Sunday when an overnight deluge dumped 3 and 4 inches of rain into headwaters of streams swollen by four previous days of Pacific-bred storms.

Oregon national guardsmen were on duty at stricken Myrtle Creek and on alert orders at Roseburg.

Red Cross flood relief volunteers sheltered about 1,000 last night in the Eugene, Ore., area where Sheriff Tom Swarts had issued a general evacuation order for all Willamette river lowlands in Lane county. Some were taken from their homes in rowboats to shelters in nearby Springfield and Eugene.

Another 1,000—perhaps more, the Red Cross said—had scurried yesterday to higher ground along the Umpqua river valley. The Red Cross at Roseburg, Ore., center of the stricken sector, said these had been housed at Winston, at isolated Myrtle Creek and in Roseburg.

Worst Since 1927

Roseburg's plight was declared a flood emergency by the Red Cross and supplies and staff aides were rushed there from other West coast cities.

The city of grants pass was isolated. Businessmen had sand-bagged store fronts Sunday when the wild Rogue river swept into the main street. There was no evacuation reports in that city but state highway resident Engineer J. G. Bromley described the flooding as the worst since 1927.

At a rural area south of here, 89 year old Charles Moline was snatched to safety by a boat crew just before his cabin was washed away.

Horse And Automobile Collide; Two Killed Three Others Injured

SAGINAW, Mich.—(AP)—A collision between a horse and an automobile brought death today to two persons and serious injury to three others.

A car driven by Robert W. Wreckage, 25, of Chesaning RFD 1, plowed into a horse that had strayed onto M-13 nine miles south of here, then went into a roadside ditch.

Killed were Shirley Mae Nicklyn, two-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nicklyn, of Saginaw, and George J. Birchmeier, jr., 24, of New Lathrop.

The Nicklyn's, returning from Chicago, had hitch-hiked a ride with Wreckage when their car broke down six miles from the scene of the accident.

The Nicklyn child was found face-down in a roadside ditch. Head and chest injuries killed Birchmeier.

Wreckage was taken to the hospital.

Wrangle Rages On Trygve Lie

LAKE SUCCESS.—(AP)—The security council today overrode Russian objections and decided to let the veto-free general assembly take up tomorrow a proposal to extend the term of U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie.

Russia's Jacob A. Malik then told the council the Soviet Union would not recognize Lie as the legal secretary-general if the assembly extended his term.

The action took place at a closed-door meeting of the 11-nation council which has been deadlocked over the problem of Lie's future.

Malik proposed formally that the council ask the assembly to postpone its debate scheduled for tomorrow morning on a 14-nation proposal for giving Lie a three-year extension. He was voted down 7 to 1, with India, Nationalist China and Egypt abstaining. Russia cast the lone vote in favor of a postponement of the assembly meeting.

Malik has vetoed Lie once and U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin has indicated he will cast the first American veto, if necessary, to prevent council nomination of anyone else but Lie.

Germany Is Big Question Mark In European Defense

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The Atlantic powers defense committee set out to finish framing today the structure of a combined defense force to protect Western Europe against any aggression from Russia.

But interposed was an old obstacle over which the Atlantic nations had stumbled before—should German forces be organized to participate in the common defense? If so, under what conditions?

The opening of today's session held forth hopes that the defense ministers of the 12 pact countries could iron out details and disagreements by tonight. It was a hope, not a certainty.

In the first closed-door meeting of the defense committee on Saturday French defense minister Jules Moch presented his government's ideas about the German question. Presumably they were as stated before: The rearming of Western Germany, the formation of German military forces, should wait until some form of European defense council is formed. This civilian council would control a supra-national military force. If eventually there are any German units in it they shouldn't be big, but should be smaller than division size.

This isn't the idea of the United States and Britain. They contend the menace of Russia is so great and urgent that everything possible should be done swiftly—including formation of German units to help the combined defense. They have offered guarantees on the size and control of the German units, but not the kind Moch's government demands.

Everyone talked about it for long hours on Saturday. Then, after all the ministers had a chance for phone consultations with their home governments during a Sunday recess, they were called back this morning to talk some more.

He had no comment on the decision made at a meeting of 500 members of Local 599. Clifford Rock, local president, said "substantially more than the necessary two thirds voted for expulsion."

The move raised the question whether Blasingame can keep his job since General Motors has a closed shop agreement with the UAW. The closed shop provides that workers must belong to the union.

Earlier Blasingame had been evicted from the plant by other workers who said they resented his remarks on United States' participation in the Korean war.

He was then fired by the company, but was rehired when union leaders asked that UAW trial procedure be followed.

Fog Is Blamed For 7 Deaths

(By The Associated Press)

Michigan traffic accidents in a foggy weekend killed at least 16 persons, including a 17-year-old bride of three hours.

Another victim was an Otsego woman who was killed Saturday while traveling to a convention of the Michigan Federation of Humane societies in Pontiac. The group failed to hear of her death and elected her secretary later in the day.

She was Miss Dorothy McClelland, 49, killed on US-27 north-east of Charlotte when her car, carrying five women passengers, collided head-on with another vehicle in dense fog. The other women were injured.

The young bride, Mrs. Delores Blow Murray of Detroit, still was wearing her wedding dress Saturday night when the auto in which she was riding with her husband and two wedding attendants crashed with another car. John J. Murray, 18, the husband, was reported in serious condition at Bedford Receiving hospital.

Heavy fog settled over Southern Michigan and the Detroit area and was believed responsible for six deaths besides that of Miss McClelland.

Iron Routs Prowler
DETROIT.—(AP)—The intruder who tried to break into Mrs. Eddie Mae Johnson's home last night got a hot reception. The 36-year-old housewife was ironing, so she simply stuck her iron in his face a couple of times. The prowler "made an outcry and fled," a police report said.

Jaycees Need Help Of All To Get Out The Vote Nov. 7

SATURDAY the Escanaba Daily Press published on Page One a letter from a reader on the subject of voting in the November 7 general election.

The Escanaba Junior Chamber of Commerce has been promoting a vigorous campaign to get a record turnout in the approaching election. The Escanaba Press regards this program as one of great importance and one which the entire county should wholeheartedly support. Many of the suggestions outlined in the letter from the Press reader are constructive proposals to help get out the largest vote on record in Delta county.

The Boy Scouts Need Your Help

THE Boy Scouts of Delta county need your help.

The suspension of the Community Chest this year has made it necessary for the Boy Scouts to organize and conduct their own fund-raising drive. The goal in Delta county is $7,500 to finance the work of the Boy Scouts for the ensuing year.

The drive begins today and will continue to Nov. 10. Do your part to keep this vigorous program for boys operating in the year ahead. It is, of course, unthinkable that the people of Delta county would fail to adequately finance the Boy Scout program.

The work of the Boy Scouts, their contribution to community service, the character building phases of the Boy Scout program, all of these things are an old story to the people of Delta county. It should not be necessary to "sell" Boy Scouts and the important part of their organization plays in the county activities.

The people who are leading the Boy Scout campaign for funds are among the busiest people of the county, but they know and understand the importance of the Boy Scout movement to the welfare of our country and our community. They are giving their time and their money for this cause. You can help, too, by being generous when you are contacted and asked to contribute.

'Liberals' Often Betray Themselves

MANY so-called liberals in this country use the phrase, "the little people," almost as a watchword. They offer themselves as the champions, the protectors, the righteous comrades of our less fortunate citizens.

Whether they realize it or not, invoking that phrase puts them under marked suspicion of insincerity. For there's a large element of condescension in it. It's patronizing. It suggests the father caring for his children, the guardian for his ward.

The truth is, among men of good will with a genuine feeling for other human beings, there is no classification of people as big and little. A man may be downtrodden, an underdog, underprivileged and in need of help. But that doesn't make him little. He's just as big a human being as the fellow who's riding high and doesn't need any help.

When you hear talk of the "little guy," you can't be blamed for feeling that the individuals who utter it are less interested in acting humanely than they are in parading their generosity of spirit.

If you stopped people at street corners or factory gates or in shops, how many do you imagine would acknowledge that they were "little men"? Probably few, if any. Even people in grave trouble don't like to be treated as wards and children. They want to feel at all times that they're the equal of any other humans, as they most certainly are.

This same strange attitude of condescension crops up in problems affecting racial minorities. Too many "liberals" exhibit excessive qualities of showmanship in their defense of minority groups. They appear to be saying: "See how broadminded I am. I'm for these poor, unfortunate folk."

If you have a real understanding of human beings, your concern for their welfare comes easily, almost automatically. You don't have to advertise your sympathies to convince the world's you're on the right side; it will be readily apparent with your behavior just how you feel. And you surely don't have to demote to a special category of "little people" the human beings in this land and elsewhere who need a helping hand.

If that phrase were never heard again, it'd be a healthy thing for our unlicker citizens and for the cause of genuine liberalism.

Dress-Up Time

There's commotion in the attic when October's on the wane, and the kids dig into trunks which lots of ancient clothes contain. It's some costumes they are wanting that will make them look a fright. Like the aging suits and dresses which are seldom brought to light. For it once again is dress-up time, and eerie is the scene, when the children go a-calling on a spooky Halloween.

Makes you think of days gone by to watch 'em resurrect that junk, which you ought to throw away but which you store inside a trunk. There's a funny-looking coat with tails, now worn and green with age—once you wore it to your wedding and its style was all the rage. But come Halloween, your Junior, with a pillow stuffed inside, will be cause for youthful laughter when his costume rare is spied.

Sister's also sure to wear a dress her mother used to prize — in its day it sure was somethin', now it's just a kid's disguise. When they don their grinning masks and go their Halloweening way, they are dressed the part to frolic where the spooks and goblins play. And somehow each year you're glad they bring to light those clothes of old, for they waken treasured memories which give you joy untold.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Out in rock-ribbed Republican Iowa a lot of folks don't know much more about Democrats than a hog does about Sunday. But this year the Democrats are throwing a slight scare into the Republicans, and here are three factors helping them do it:

1. "Old Hector" whisky.
2. P-60 anti-freeze.
3. A bona fide dirt farmer running for the Senate on the Democratic ticket.

The bona fide farmer is Al Loveland, who can't make a speech much better than a rooster can lay eggs. But he served faithfully in the U. S. department of agriculture as undersecretary, knows about half the farmers in Iowa, and has uncovered the rather important fact that his opponent, GOP Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper attended only one out of six meetings of the Senate agriculture committee.

As a result, Loveland has been effectively asking Iowa voters: "Would you hire a hand who came to work one day out of six?"

Instead of attending meetings of the agriculture committee, Senator Hickenlooper had led the bed-peeping probes first of the atomic energy commission, then of the state department.

The probe of the atomic energy commission backfired badly, partly because the former editor of the Des Moines Register-Tribune, W. W. Waymack, was then a member of the commission and people in Iowa knew he wouldn't stand for atomic secrets leaking; partly because every atomic leak so far has been nailed on the army. Not a single leak has been nailed on the civilian-controlled commission that Hickenlooper made so many charges against.

HOUND-DOG HICKENLOOPER

Hickenlooper's probe of the state department, in which he followed in the footsteps of grand-standing Joe McCarthy, looked as if it would pay better better political dividends. Everyone pointed to his big primary majority and said: "At least Bourke's hound-dogging has been rewarded."

But now folks are inclined to figure that a state department which acted so forthrightly in Korea couldn't have harbored many Communists, and that maybe hound-dog Hickenlooper got hold of a scent that was about five years old. Hickenlooper will probably win in November. The normal GOP margin in Iowa seems fairly certain to carry him through. But he isn't being helped any by two other developments. These are:

(1) The Republican-controlled state liquor commission loaded itself up with a lot of "Old Hector" whisky, aged three years, when it could have bought bonded whisky, guaranteed by the federal government to be four years old at almost the same price. Why the GOP commissioners went for Old Hector instead of the better grade is a question the Democrats want answered. So far none has been forthcoming.

(2) Iowa's GOP secretary of agriculture, Clyde Spry, approved the purchase of an anti-freeze for trucks despite the fact that Iowa State college warned that this brand of anti-freeze—P-60—contained salt and would ruin engines. The U. S. bureau of standards in Washington also refused to OK P-60 anti-freeze, but GOP Secretary Spry OK'd P-60 just the same. The Democrats now want to know why.

In fact, Lester Gillette, Democratic candidate for governor, goes further than this.

"It would be better," he says, "to put Old Hector whisky in our radiators and drink the P-60."

FRIENDSHIP BUILDERS HALTED

Last year, a group of young Austrians visited the United States—some under the sponsorship of the Junior Chamber of Commerce—to build friendship between the United States and Europe. This year, however, the friendship program is being halted at Ellis Island—thanks to the new McCarran act.

What Congress apparently did not realize when it rushed the McCarran bill over the White House veto was that it would bar some of our best friends in Europe—among them Ernst Reuter, the heroic mayor of West Berlin. Reuter has consistently resisted Soviet attempts to penetrate the Allied area, but in 1919 he was a communist. And though he has long since reformed, he is automatically barred from the U. S. A. under the McCarran bill.

THE PARTS OF SPEECH

The Preposition

The preposition, as its name suggests, is a word of position, location, or direction. It tells where nouns or pronouns are, how they are related to other nouns or pronouns, where they are going, or where they are coming from.

In this sentence there are no prepositions: The boy walked the house and sat the chair.

Such a sentence is meaningless without prepositions; hence: The boy walked INTO the house and sat on the chair.

Note the prepositions in the following sentences: Give the book TO me. The ball bounced AGAINST the wall. This is a secret BETWEEN you and me. John borrowed the book FROM Mary. We shared our lunch WITH William.

Now see if you can pick the prepositions from the following words: running; above; watch; fisherman; among; nicely; during; except; two; dishes; around; for; inside; knowing; through; bookcase; behind; surely; underneath.

It is amazing how many people, including most teachers, believe that it is a grammatical error to end a sentence with a preposition. There is no rule in English that the end-of-sentence preposition is incorrect. On the contrary, all reputable authorities give the end-of-sentence preposition highest sanction, and it is found in the very best English literature from Chaucer to the present day.

Korea—That Wonder Tonic

The Ohio Campaign Is Strictly Senator Taft vs. Anti-Taft

By BRUCE BLOSSART

NEA Staff Correspondent
WITH TAFT IN EASTERN OHIO—(NEA)—As Senator Taft's car emerged from a Youngstown steel plant, a string of boing calling pickets barred the way out. His driver thought it safest to push through quickly and whisk the senator away.

But Taft ordered: "Stop the car." Reluctantly the driver obeyed.

The senator opened the door, leaned out and, smiling, fastened his gaze on a round little red-faced man who seemed to be the noisiest critic. "How are you?" Taft said.

The incident shows how the 61-year-old Republican leader is meeting the tests of this turbulent Ohio campaign. He doesn't say he's fighting for his political life, but he behaves like a man who is.

Taft is the target for the greatest single drive organized labor has ever made at the polls. A flood tide of labor money, anti-Taft labor literature and labor speakers is flowing across Ohio in an effort to engulf him and sweep him out of the Senate.

Taft's response to this powerful current is to carry the struggle right to the opposition. The Youngstown plant was just one of more than 300 he's visited since he began stumpng. Sometimes he only strolls through, shaking hands and chatting briefly with workers at their jobs. But often he speaks to them.

At a plant in Salem, a worker outside the meeting hall leaned against a car, his lunch pail under his arm, and stared silently into the distance while Taft talked. He was typical of the respectful attention paid the senator by most workers. Later on a laborer who caught a glimpse of Taft's departing car shouted laughingly after him: "Hey, Alphonso!" There was no hostility in his tone.

It was the same story in a grimy little boiler factory in East Palestine. The men listened intently, and applauded briefly yet politely when Taft finished speaking.

Everywhere he takes the bull by the horns and stoutly defends the Taft-Hartley law he sponsored in the Senate. He tells the men it's basically a good law designed to save them from the arbitrary actions of both management and the union bosses who so vehemently condemn it.

"Labor wanted Taft-Hartley as an issue in this campaign and they got it," he says. "Frankly, I don't think it's doing them much good and I think they're beginning to soft-pedal it. I think most workers are finding out it's a pretty good law."

Taft flatly refuses to concede that all labor is against him. Though the smashing attack on him is being directed by the United Labor League, representatives of nearly all major unions in Ohio, Taft aims his counter-fire only at the CIO and its Political Action Committee.

He describes the PAC as the "real socialist party in the United States," charging that the CIO's campaign against him is directed from Washington and is bent on achieving a "rubber stamp" Congress. Labor wants to eliminate independents like himself, he says, who have the nerve to say "no" to union proposals.

He appeals to Ohioans: "Do you want outsiders coming into this state to tell you how to vote?" He portrays both President Truman and his own Democratic opponent, Joseph T. Ferguson, as captives of the CIO. Of Ferguson he says: "They're writing his speeches and telling him what to do."

And he accuses the CIO of resorting to Hitler's technique of the "big lie" in its broadside assaults on his 12-year Senate record. In straightforward, matter-of-fact style, he tries to answer the attacks point by point.

Daily, the senator tells his attentive audiences labor is spending the biggest part of a $30,000,000 campaign fund to crush him in Ohio. (Labor in turn says Taft has a $4,000,000 kitty drawn from all parts of the U. S.)

But Taft isn't content to batter at labor's strongholds in the industrial cities. Mindful that 16 Ohio rural counties went for Mr. Truman in 1948, he's pushing hard to recapture farm strength which the Republicans lost.

With the senator making 10 or more speeches a day, his motor caravan whirls him through three or four rural counties from morning until night. His sound truck driver was heard to complain: "I just can't keep up with you boys!"

The caravan barrels over the rolling eastern Ohio hills at 60. As Taft hits a town, he's out of the car and speaking almost before the last straggler in the parade has halted.

In Columbiana the scene is a street corner in a little square. . . . In Carrollton a cold wind blows his hair into a wispy antenna as he talks before the courthouse. . . . In Lisbon he stands well up on the steps of a gray courthouse, his bare head framed in the tall, arching stone doorway while the fading sun glints on aging buildings across the street. . . . In Wellsville it's an undistinguished high school auditorium, just past the dinner hour. . . . In East Liverpool, another auditorium, with basketball nets and highly varnished floors and a warm feeling.

His speech never varies. Under Democratic rule the country will soon be completely dominated by federal bureaus in Washington, by labor unions who will foist their programs upon the people without tolerance of opposition.

In the foreign field, he says the Democrats have sold the country down the river, dissipating America's strength and at the same time setting Stalin up in strong positions both in Europe and Asia. In Taft's view, Mr. Truman invited Russia's North Korean offensive.

The cure for all these damaging trends, the senator adds, is the election of an independent Congress under Republican control. And that means his own re-election.

In none of this whirlwind of oratory does Taft ever display the faintest excitement or resort to the standard platform techniques of flag-waving. He simply pumps out what he conceives to be the facts, smiling in a way that suggests he views the soundness of his arguments as obvious.

It isn't in Taft's nature to campaign any other way. On Nov. 7 the people of Ohio will decide whether that way is enough in the face of labor's torrent against him.

Letters From The People

Drunk Drivers

October 27, 1950

Dear Editor:

Some questions for our readers:

Why do we make so much fuss about the boys who are casualties in Korea and say hardly anything about the 10,000 who were (in 1949) killed on our highways by civilized (?) human beings who drank just a little. Who will compensate the many families whose lives are twisted and tragically dislocated because of people who don't know liberty from license? While polio in 1947 killed 580 persons, drunken drivers were killing 10,600 and crippling 300,000 others. In that same year there were 7,769 willful murders but who worried about our highway murder record which was 38 percent worse!

Is it too much to ask our American people to take stock of themselves and copy a note out of India's bill of rights? No person in India, who drinks (small or large quantities of alcohol) is allowed to drive a car. Any person who drinks must have a special permit. When will Christian America learn a lesson from a nation whose present leadership had its spiritual impulse from the late Mahatmas Gandhi? We ought to have our heads in shame that we have sunk so low that we seem to have no moral "guts" to slay this monstrosity that is making hell out of our American cities and homes.

You, sir, have, along with other editors, a big moral responsibility not to evade this issue. Unless dollars means more than righteousness.

Yours for a new deal in sobriety.

One who thinks.

TRICK 'R TREAT—This is the season of broom-riding witches, goblins, assorted ghosts—and small children playing "trick 'r treat" games in every neighborhood.

A friend of mine who has no inclination to discourage the time-honored custom of Halloween, nevertheless is concerned over the earliness with which some children begin celebrating. Tricks were being played and treats were being demanded a week or more in advance of the unofficial holiday.

School officials have received a few complaints, the complainers asking the school teachers to "do something about it."

The solution to the problem of premature tricksters is: 1—For parents to discourage nightly juvenile roamings prior to Halloween; and 2—For the "trick 'r treat" victim to refuse any treat until the evening of Oct. 31.

WHAT IT MEANS—While there is little historical or educational interest in Halloween, it is a holiday with special appeal to the youngsters.

The weird legends, the symbols of black cats and witches have a fascination all their own—based in pagan superstitions old as the dawn of man.

Yet the name Halloween means Holy Eve and in Christian times was dedicated to the festival of All Saints on Oct. 31.

BUT NO PUMPKINS—Quite without intention, the festival became a peculiar mixing of Christian and pagan customs—serving no useful purpose yet entertaining nonetheless.

The pagans, about thirteen centuries ago, celebrated Nov. 1 as All Spirits Day, when spirits both good and evil were believed to be on earth. Strange customs of bonfires, mask wearing, candle-lighting, and spook-dodging were combined with a celebration marking the harvest season.

But the ubiquitous Halloween pumpkin did not enter the Halloween picture until the discovery of America—and pumpkins. And even to this day the pumpkin is absent in European Halloween festivals, while in this country it plays a leading role.

JACK O' LANTERN—In the New World Halloween followed close upon harvest time and found many pumpkins available to convert into lanterns for the occasion.

The Old World Jack O' Lantern with its background of superstition fitted easily into the pumpkin shell—complete with cut-outs to form diabolical faces. It was a natural transposition of an old custom into a new setting, quite in keeping with the American spirit of putting new forms on old traditions.

PLACATING THE SPIRITS—In pagan days and probably long into the Christian era the belief in evil spirits who came to plague poor humans on Halloween resulted in a rogues game to fool the gullible. If the spirits wouldn't play tricks, then the pranksters would. After all, it was Halloween, and something had to happen.

So began the ancient and honorable game of "trick or treat" with a gift demanded to ward off the mischievous attentions. Through passing centuries the spirits were forgotten and the tricks were those of fun-loving children intent on a form of polite larceny denied them at any other time of year.

IT HAS IMPROVED—Folks who now complain against the custom of Halloween might very well recall the history of the holiday, and rejoice that they are no longer afflicted by pagan spirits.

They might also recollect the days of their youth, when Halloween was observed with greater vigor than today and property damage included broken fences and windows, over-turned out-houses, and gates pulled off to decorate the church steeple.

And today's youngsters should consider that even in pagan times the spirits came to do their tricks but one night only—Halloween.

Crime Is Fed At Top Level

Crooks Need Help Of Politicians

By ROBERT C. RUARK
CHICAGO — The recent loud declamations of corruption in both New York and Chicago continue to point constantly in the direction of one of the more ancient adages. Crime and corruption, to operate at the bottom and in the middle, must have its germination at the top.

I couldn't make heads or tails of the myriad revelations of last week's big blowoff here. There were too many Tonys and Pauls and Waiters and Little New Yorks. Too much racing wire talk. Too many old corpses exhumed. Too many instances of cop corruption and gangster domination of business and racket—altogether, too much inside-behind-the-curtain.

Cops openly admitted taking ice. Cops were shown to be privately employed as race-track detectives while working on a city payroll. There was talk of the syndicate, of tieups with Kar, s City and St. Louis and Detroit. The shade of Al Capone was invoked, of course—and old Ed Kelly, the city's boss and national representative, thoughtfully died at 74 and was buried amidst a welter of sentimentality. Ed never did his party a greater favor on election eve, because the people largely loved him and flocked to weep at his bier.

Kelly Ran The Town
But the corruption of a city points to the top in politics, then travels downward. Kelly was beloved, but Kelly was ever a practical politician. Kelly ran a dirty-shirt town for the Democrats with every weapon and tool of old-fashioned party organization.

Kelly, and the Democratic party, bore the insignia of Chicago. Proud or poor, clean or corrupt, as Mayor O'Dwyer and Tammany and Boss Flynn stand for what goes on, good or bad, in New York.

The prime aim of practical politics is to deliver the vote, thereby keeping party wheels in positions of power. From the positions of power, the wheels are enabled to dispense plums to the deserving—vast plums of contracts and commissions and perquisites. Political organization needs heavy money and intricate cooperation with influential crooks.

In recent years the hoodlums and furnished racket chieftains have been able to worm into the inner councils of upper-bracket political organizations, through their contributions of cash, occasional murder and important influence. The income from their legitimate business, stepchildren of old criminalities, and their still active rackets, provide immeasurable melons which yield ripe slices for the grasping politician who will listen to reason.

Rackets Need Protection
Rackets need protection. Protection starts at the top. When it tunnels downward it rots every branch on the way. When this rottenness is accepted by the leaders of the land, in order to further selfish political power and ambition, then the condoners in high office are guiltier than the small-time hood, the ward heeler, the precinct captain, or the flack on the beat with his hand out for a fast five bucks.

The bookmakers and dope-sellers and cheap hustlers and panders are almost less evil than the system they serve. They are only the malt and hops, without

'Rock Of Ages' Lives On Korea War Ruins

HAMHUNG, North Korea—(P)—It was a bare little church just around the corner from a bombed out electric plant.

The small building nestled beside the broad concrete highway running from Hamhung to the sea of Japan. A cross on top marked the building as a place of Christian worship.

Curiosity impelled us to enter—two correspondents and a former Korean law student from Seoul. We had expected to find it empty; religion rides rough seas in Communist countries. North Korea had had five years of Red rule.

To our amazement, we heard the rich, resonant tones of an organ. Its sonorous notes filled the little room.

Young Voices In Song
Then young voices lifted in a hymn.

Our eyes adjusted to the dim light. They took in an ancient pump organ, four bare benches and a pulpit.

A young man was seated at the organ. Ten little girls lined the benches. None was more than 12 years old.

The organ music and the singing stopped. The young man looked up, a question in his eyes. The girls looked up, too—and, like little girls everywhere, giggled.

Through our Korean friend, we asked them to continue.

The music resumed, ever so softly. The organist nodded. The children began singing again. There was no mistaking the hymn. Their young voices rolled it out, clear and strong.

"Rock of ages, cleft for me . . . Before the hymn was finished, a scuffling intruded from the rear of the church. Through the door came an old man.

He ended his hand. The singing stopped.

The old man reached into a dilapidated briefcase and drew out a book. He began to read in Korean. Our Seoul friend said the old man was reading from the new testament.

Another man entered. He went from window to window with a mouthful of nails, tacking in window panes which had been removed to safeguard them during the fighting for Hamhung.

Cross Gleams On
Our Seoul friend, San Ku Lee, began talking with the little gathering.

He talked to them of democracy . . . of the blessings it could bring to people . . . freedom from fear . . . freedom of religion . . .

They listened avidly—the organist, the ragged old man, the little girls.

The chilly October sun cast the pattern of a cross on the floor.

Then the two churchmen began talking. Lee translated for us:

This had been a Methodist church. During the Red Korean regime, the Communists had banned reading of the bible. But they had permitted singing.

And through the old hymns, like "Rock of Ages," Christianity lived on in hearts of these Koreans. Its spirit was kindled in the young.

After a time we left, refreshed by this testimony of faith under adversity.

We took a last look. In the doorway our new-found friends—the old man, the young organist and the little girls—all waved goodbye.

Above them, the white cross gleamed like a beacon in the light of a dying day.

Want To Make Flying Saucer? Here's How!

(Editors Note: The following story was submitted to the Associated Press with a note that said: "Don't think I'm nuts. I just got fed up with people reporting flying saucers. I made one. It worked fine. We let it go on Friday, a payday when main street was crowded with shoppers. It seemed as though every telephone in town went into action.")

LOCK HAVEN, Pa.—(P)—This flying saucer business is nothing to get excited about.

It's easy as pie to build one. It's not much harder to make it fly. There is nothing mysterious about it. Any boy who builds model planes can put a flyable saucer together in a couple of hours.

Traffic Snarled

It took a little invention on the part of the "flying saucer department" of the Lock Haven, Pa. Express but on a recent afternoon a saucer flew over central Pennsylvania. It caused quite a stir and traffic was snarled on main street. Here's how it's done:

Go to a shop where model planes are sold. Buy a dozen or so four-foot lengths of quarter inch balsa wood strips. Pick up a few tubes of airplane cement. At a grocery store purchase two or three rolls of aluminum foil. Get a ball of kite string at the dime store—and a box of balloons.

Before setting to work order a tank of helium. Most wholesale supply houses carry it. Then follow these instructions and you'll have a flying saucer.

Lay out a circle of balsa strips on the carpet. Secure the ends together with string and cement. Now reinforce the circle with a couple of cross sections of balsa. Repeat the process and you have the top and bottom of your saucer.

Made Like Sandwich

Cover the circle framework with aluminum foil. Use cellophane tape to secure the seams. Then fill the balloons with helium, placing them between the two circles like the meat in a sandwich. You'll need someone to hold down the top side or it will lift to the ceiling.

Don't make the circle larger than the front door or you won't be able to get it outside. Keep the balloons inside the two circular sides by lashing the top and bottom together with string.

You are now ready to go into the flying saucer business. Get friends to help carry the framework outside. You will find it has a strong urge to rise because of the balloons. Be sure you pick a sunny day. You want that aluminum foil to glisten. They say that's what a saucer does.

Make sure there are no trees or telephone wires nearby then let her go and it will rise into the sky. Once the homemade disc is up a hundred feet or so and moves with the wind, you can't tell the difference from a genuine article.

This should settle the flying saucer problem for all time, don't you think?

Boys Helped By Scouting Program Described To Rotary Club

The Boy Scouts of America program provides boys the opportunity to identify themselves with a "noble pattern" in thought and action. Andrew Houston, Red Buck district Scout executive, told the Escanaba Rotary club at its meeting today noon.

Scouting gives the boy a creative outlet for his energy, appeals to the boy's search for adventure, and gives him recognition for worthwhile achievement, the scout executive explained. It also provides an outlet for the "gang urge" through his Scout troop and patrol, Cub pack and den, and the Explorer units.

A high code of ethics that encourages the boy to faithfulness in his own religion and in respect for God is contained in the Boy Scout program, Houston pointed out.

And there also is a "down to earth" side that brings the boy into close contact with the wonders of nature, he added.

Every Scout unit needs a good sponsor, interested volunteer leaders, said Houston. The Scout program is now in its 40th year and is worldwide in scope and growing in value as another link in bridging national lines to bring better understanding and peace.

At the Escanaba city councilman, spoke to the Rotary club briefly on the city's need of a new gas plant. Better efficiency, less cost in production, with savings passed on to the consumers in lower rates were explained by Reynolds, a member of the Rotary club.

Famine-Threatened Yugoslavia Assured U. S. Will Send Food

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia — (AP) — Yugoslavia's famine-threatened people had assurance from Premier Marshal Tito today that enough American aid will be forthcoming to prevent starvation — with no strings attached.

"The American government did not impose any conditions," Tito told the final session of the congress of anti-Fascist women at Zagreb yesterday. "It will be possible to get all we need * * * in order to feed whole districts which are damaged throughly by the drought."

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson disclosed last week that American food for Yugoslavia is already being loaded for shipment. The export-import bank has advanced $2,000,000 of an existing $15,000,000 credit for that purpose. Yugoslav officials estimate they will need $105,000,000 in food imports to combat effects of the drought.

Enlisted Reservists May Forget Call To Active Army Service

DETROIT — (AP) — Attention! All Michigan army enlisted reservists!

If you've got orders to report to Fort Lewis, Wash., or Fort Campbell, Ky., you can forget them! And it's O. K. with Uncle Sam!

If you want to go right on, that's O. K. too.

Col. James R. Urquhart, commander of the Michigan military district, announced today enlisted

Sweden Mourning For King Gustaf; Son New Ruler

Thursday, Nov. 9, it was officially announced today.

In a few days, the remains will be placed in the chapel of Stockholm palace, where a guard of honor will parade day and night by the closed coffin covered with the ermine mantle of the dead king.

Burial at Riddarholm

His crown and other royal insignia will be arrayed around the coffin. Another bejeweled crown used at funerals of earlier kings of the Bernadotte line will be placed atop the coffin.

King Gustaf will be buried in Riddarholm church, last resting place of most Swedish kings. He will lie by the side of his wife, Queen Victoria, who died 20 years ago.

Sweden's new ruler begins his reign fully prepared for his high duties. He often took the role of monarch in all but name during his father's illnesses and absences from the throne.

Robust and temperate—he neither smokes nor drinks—Gustaf VI was an excellent athlete in his youth but did not continue strenuous sports as long as did his gaunt, lanky father, who played tennis at 88 and hunted at 91.

Daughter Danish Queen

Educated in the public schools and at Uppsala university, the new ruler counts among his friends labor leaders as well as politicians and scientists. His interest in archaeology took him to China and Greece for research.

He was married in 1905 to British Princess Margaret of Connaught, a granddaughter of Queen Victoria. They had four sons and a daughter, Ingrid, now Queen of Denmark.

Princess Margaret died May 1, 1920. In November, 1923, Gustaf married Lady Mountbatten.

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — Branch Rickey, currently without a baseball home, was here today for a meeting with St. Louis Browns President Bill DeWitt. There was considerable speculation as to whether Rickey's visit was to discuss the possibility of a trade or whether it means the American league baseball club is in Rickey's future.

Chicago Prices

CHICAGO BUTTER — Butter, receipts (two days) 420,432; wholesale selling prices unchanged to 1/4 cent a pound higher; 93 score AA, 63.5; 92 A, 62.5; 90 B, 60.5; 89 C, 58.25; cars: 90 B, 61.25; 89 C, 59.25.

CHICAGO EGGS — Eggs, steady; receipts (two days) 8,704; wholesale selling prices unchanged to two cents a dozen higher; U. S. extras, 57 to 61; U. S. standards, 38 to 41; current receipts, 32 to 33; dirties, 30; checks, 29.

CHICAGO GRAIN — The largest cash receipts of the season so far brought the bulk of grain in corn prices under control on the Board of Trade today.

Although opening steady, corn could not eke out new seasonal highs, and after the first few minutes of trading went into a gentle slide. Some selling represented profit-taking following last week's rather sharp upturn.

A mixed pattern ruled in the rest of the grain market. The July wheat contract, representing the 1951 crop, showed independent firmness as it had done Saturday. Soybeans worked lower despite early strength in soybean oil futures.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was 1/4 cent lower to 1/2 higher, December $2.25 1/2, corn was 1/4 to 1/2 lower, December $1.52 1/2, and oats were unchanged to 1/4 lower, December 84 1/2. Soybeans were 1/4 to 1/2 cents lower, November $2.25 1/2, and soybean meal was 1/4 to 1/2 cents lower, November $13.17.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK — (AP) — (USDA) — Salable hogs 14,000; slow; 25 to 35 cents lower on butchery; unevenly weak to mostly 25 cents lower on hogs; top $19.25 for several loads choice 180 to 220 lbs.; mostly $19.10 and $19.15 market for good and choice 180 to 280 lb. weights; market closed slow with few late sales these weights at $19.00; few lots 150 to 170 lbs. $18.50 to $19.00; good and good hogs under 400 lbs. $18.00 to $18.75; 400 to 500 lbs. $17.00 to $18.00; few heavier weights $16.00 to $16.50; load common to medium western ewes $14.25.

reservists ordered to report to either Fort Lewis or Fort Campbell could ignore those orders—but added they would remain No. 1 on the "go" list and likely would get other orders later.

Officers are not affected by the "forget it" order. Neither are enlisted reservists ordered to report to stations other than Fort Campbell or Fort Lewis.

Col. Urquhart estimated 300 to 400 Michigan reservists are exempted from reporting by the new order, which he said was issued in line with Secretary of Defense Marshall's decision to give reservists three months advance notice of their call and an extra month in which to get ready to go.

Since many of Michigan's reservists already have had 30 days notice, Col. Urquhart said they might be called in 90 days, instead of 120 days.

If anyone holding orders to report wishes to do so, he can follow them to the military district commander said, pointing out that orders have not been revoked but reservists merely given the choice of forgetting or following them.

The military district said the new policy applies to all categories of reservists, including specialists, and said that the bulk of all reservists ordered to duty from Michigan are sent to either Fort Campbell or Fort Lewis.

When those "forgetting" original orders finally are called, exemption points established by Gen. Marshall will be applicable to them, Col. Urquhart said.

On the left flank of the retreating ROK Sixth division, the Fifth regimental combat team of the U. S. 34th division battled to within 3.4 miles of the Manchurian border.

AP Correspondent William Jordan reported the Americans suffered heavy casualties from mortar and small arms fire. By nightfall, the regiment was digging in two miles east of Kusong after a five-mile advance.

The Americans killed some 400 Reds and took 115 prisoners, including two Chinese.

Rivers Overflow Banks In Oregon; 2,000 Evacuated

lated Sunday and passengers of four busses and over a 100 cars were stranded there. They were fed in churches and houses in a Boy Scout building. A parachute drop was planned today to get food to about 50 families isolated at Douglas Park near there.

Highways Cut Off

Highways in a vast area were severed by bridge washouts, fallen trees and land slides. Only one main trunk route linked Oregon and California. U. S. highways 99 and the coast U. S. 101 were under water in a dozen places. Busses were held at terminals and some trains delayed by slides yesterday.

The victims were Hollis McGuire, 39, Placer, Ore., who died after being pulled from the debris of a smashed bridge and Mrs. Leona Higgins, 62, who drowned in the rampaging Coquille river near the Oregon coast. Motorist Lester Howe, Myrtle Point, was missing in the same river after a car plunged into the flooded stream. His companion, Weber Mast, was rescued.

Private aircraft were preparing again today to drop food to some families isolated—and crowded around two hilltop homes—at Dillard, Ore.

Meanwhile, coastal towns at the mouths of the Rogue, Umpqua and Coquille rivers reported early today their rivers were rising rapidly.

The army corps of engineers sent levee crews checking out the Willamette river points north between Eugene and Portland. The crest will move into this rich farmland valley today and tomorrow.

Government river forecaster Elmer Fisher said crests of 10 to 12 feet over flood stage at Albany, Corvallis and the state capital area of Salem could be expected. They would send water over pastures and fields, but weren't expected to cause heavy damage.

CONVERSION WINS

DETROIT — (AP) — Val Ventro booted the game-winning conversion as the Dearborn All-Stars nipped Monroe 7-6 yesterday in a Southern Michigan semi-pro football league battle at Dearborn.

Prolific Production

Citizens Are Urged To Vote Smith Addresses Kiwanis Club

Citizens were urged by C. Howard Smith of Chicago, in a talk at the meeting of the Kiwanis club Monday noon, to become better informed on national affairs and make sure to vote in the general election on Nov. 7. Mr. Smith is national affairs advisor of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

"The responsibility for good government is the responsibility of the people," Smith asserted. He advised his hearers to study most carefully the qualifications of candidates for Congress, for he expressed the belief that the session of the coming two years "could entirely change our mode of living."

Dangers of Socialism

Mr. Smith pointed to the socialistic tendencies of our federal government, and said that measures being drafted for introduction at the next session of Congress would drastically control business, education, public health and virtually every phase of human activity.

"The government creates no wealth, but still it is the biggest business in the world," Mr. Smith said. "Of course, it is entirely financed by taxes."

America has been plagued with Kaiserism, Fascism, Nazism and Communism for the past 35 years and is now threatened with two other dangerous isms, Mr. Smith continued. He referred to the two newer isms as "controllism" and "ruinism."

Ralph Scheffler, member of the Kiwanis club's program committee, introduced Mr. Smith.

Describes Gas Plant

A. V. Aronson, city manager, also spoke briefly on the new gas plant proposal to be voted on at the Nov. 7 election. The city manager said there would be no excessive losses of gas through leaky mains with the use of the propane product. Propane is an odorless gas, and an odor will be injected into it so it can be detected. The explosive danger of propane gas is not as great as with water gas, Aronson added.

Chinese Communists Within 200 Miles Of Tibet's Capital

NEW DELHI, India — (AP) — Tibetan troops were reported today to have retreated in the face of Chinese Communist invaders to within 200 miles of the mountain country's capital of Lhasa.

India's representative at Lhasa advised his government here that the defending troops abandoned Lho Dzong (Lolungchung) Oct. 22 and Shoshando on Oct. 27 and fell back to Pemba Go.

Pemba Go is 200 airline miles east of Lhasa, on a main caravan route to Chamdo, an important east Tibetan defense center. A government spokesman here said the caravan journey from Pemba Go to Lhasa usually required a month but could be made in two weeks.

Earlier the Kalimpong correspondent of the Calcutta newspaper, the statesman, reported the Chinese Communists were believed planning a three-pronged drive on Lhasa, from both the northeast and southeast, as well as other advances into eastern Tibet and into the north of the remote Himalayan Lama-ruled country.

JHS Seventh Grade Class Completes Study Tours Here

Thirty seventh grade students in Escanaba junior high school have completed study tours of the city and today wound-up their social studies program with special reports to class members.

Committees studied protective and health services, government and commerce, population and recreation, industry and organizations and history and utilities.

In making reports to the class of 30, members of committees presented information they had obtained in the form of a radio play, a news broadcast, a panel discussion, committee reports, mimeograph records, and with exhibits made from materials they collected.

Basic Skills Extended

The project was under direction of Chester Kleeman, graduate of Milwaukee State Teachers college, who is a seventh grade instructor.

Work on the study tour, designed to integrate social studies with English and other basic skills, began in the first week of school and continued for the past nine weeks.

Students serving on the various committees visited the city hall, the chamber of commerce, Club 314, the health department, the police and fire departments, the library and the Birds Eye Veneer plant. Each took notes and assisted in preparing reports for the class.

"Basic skills were not neglected, but were extended and integrated with the study tours," Kleeman explained. He termed the project "very successful" and said that results were good.

Committee Members

Students wrote their own reports and in presenting the materials to class members used a microphone. Present in addition to students were John A. Lemmer, school superintendent, and Clarence Zerbelt, junior high school principal.

In preparing for field trips, students wrote business letters, discussed interviews with heads of the various units which they would visit, practiced using the telephone for business calls, gave reports, and made maps.

Students serving on the committees were as follows:

Protective services — Jackie Goodreau, Mary Lou Royer, Annette Hosko, Jim LeMay, Carol Kline and George Hartwig.

Government — Karen Carlson, Richard Victorson, Joan Gallagher, Lawrence Erickson, Darlene Johnson and Carol Beck.

Population — Dick Brunet, Patsy Mackie, Sally Croschere, Jim Roberts, Donna Berthaume and Tom Mackie.

Industry — Jim Barkow, Tina Rouman, Harold J. Olson, Arlene Cousineau and Janet Carlson.

History, Utilities — Leonard Croschere, Eileen Flath, Harold C. Olson, Theresa Hansen and Stanley Sundelius.

Truman Speech Over Radio To Go Unmatched

Republicans Can't Dig Up $50,000

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Republicans may let President Truman's single-shot election broadcast go unmatched on the airways. A party spokesman said today they can't dig up the money for similar radio time.

Mr. Truman's campaign closed for the Democrats—a St. Louis speech in which he plans to sum up the Congressional issues Saturday night—will be broadcast by four radio networks. That kind of operation costs around $50,000, which the Democrats are ready to fork over.

Nest Egg Gone

A GOP headquarters spokesman, who didn't want to be quoted by name, told a reporter the Republicans haven't got that kind of money at this stage of the game.

"I don't know where the money would come from," he said.

He added that contributions to the GOP war chest hadn't been so good for the last month. Financial reports to Congress show the party has spent more than it has taken in. The Democrats, however, have a nest egg of about $800,000.

Aside from some campaign speech help given them by National Chairman Guy G. Gabriell-son, Harold E. Stassen, 1948 presidential aspirant, and a group of Republican Senators, GOP candidates largely are being left to fight their battles alone.

May Call Congress

Mr. Truman's Saturday night talk will cap campaign speeches during the week by Vice President Barkley, Secretary of Agriculture Brannan and other administration figures.

Before his political talk the president is expected to wrap up as something of a campaign document a call for Congress to meet earlier than the Nov. 27 reconvening date it set when it quit in September.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, told reporters in Illinois where he is campaigning that he had discussed the matter with the president but no decision had been reached.

If Mr. Truman asks the lawmakers to hurry back after the election, some of his supporters think the president will stress action on excess profits taxes and rent controls. Both are considered good political issues in the Democratic camp.

Margaret Has TV Debut And Loves It

NEW YORK — (AP) — Margaret Truman made her singing debut on television last night.

"I loved it," the president's concert singing daughter said after the telecast. "Everybody was so nice to me—and I had fun."

Miss Truman, on the air six minutes, sang two songs as a guest artist on Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town" (CBS) variety show.

Upper Michigan
Open Pair Play
This Weekend

The most popular bridge event of the season, the Upper Michigan championship open pair tournament, will be held Saturday and Sunday, November 4 and 5 at the Escanaba Elks club. Play will start at 8 p. m. EST, Saturday evening. The event, sanctioned by the American Contract Bridge League, entitles the winners to one year's possession of the large Escanaba Daily Press trophy, permanent possession of smaller trophies and master points direct from ACBL headquarters.

Marquette will be represented for the first time in a number of years and entries from points as distant as Appleton, Minocqua and Ontonagon are expected. All bridge players are cordially invited to enter the tournament and are asked to make advance registration with J. W. Ferguson, L. W. Olson, J. L. Temby or B. M. Howe. Eugene Ravet of Marinette is tournament director.

High scores at the last weekly session were:

- 1—Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Howe—53.69

Perfume Adds A Regal Scent

Do you know the satisfying feeling of walking down the street as though you were swathed in sable although your coat is of muskrat? Fragrance on furs gives you this sense of queenliness.

The choice of which perfume you prefer on your sealskin or Persian lamb rests with your own nose. Do you like the scent? Do you like the way it smells on your fur? Then that is the perfume to wear.

Touch your perfume only to the outer tips of the fur hair. These are called "guard hairs" and protect the underneath soft hair. Or spray the scent, holding the atomizer far enough away from the coat or scarf so that a fine mist of fragrance settles on the fur, no big globules of the liquid to work down to the skin itself.

Social Situations

Franklin PTA
Carnival At School Tuesday

The Franklin Parent Teacher association is sponsoring its annual Halloween carnival Tuesday evening from 6:30 to 9:30 at the school building.

A large number of parents who have been working together as committees of the various booths, promise that the carnival again will provide a colorful and entertaining evening for youngsters.

Popular booths of previous years will be used and new games will be introduced, among them, apple on the string, hit the witch, darts and balloons and ping pong pitch. The fish pond will have enough prizes to enable youngsters to fish all evening. The spook room with its mysteries and candy, pop and food booths will fill the various rooms. The parents' show, highlight of the entertainment, will have three complete performances.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Swank are general chairmen of the carnival. Committee chairmen are: fish pond, Mrs. James G. Ward, Jr.; ping pong pitch, Mrs. John Trotter; food, Mrs. Harvey Miller; movies, Ray Knudson; apples on the string, Mrs. Donald Moen; pop, Mrs. Floyd Anuta; candy, Mrs. William A. LeMire, Jr.; hit the witch, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. McCormick; darts and balloons, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Danielson; parent's show, Gene Hebert and Don Devlin; tickets at door, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gruber, and bean jar, Mr. and Mrs. William Perkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sturgeon and daughter, Diane, have returned to Chicago after a two weeks' visit here. They were accompanied by Mrs. Sturgeon's mother, Mrs. Marko Rodman who will visit with them and with another daughter, Mrs. Albert Noyes and a son, George, who is employed in Chicago.

Dr. and Mrs. D. H. Boyce and Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Venne have returned from South Bend, Ind., where they attended the Michigan State-Notre Dame football game.

Mrs. R. H. Parkarinen left today for Duluth where she will join her husband, employed as chief steward on the oil tanker Westcoat, and then continue on to Two Harbors, Minn., where they will attend funeral services for his mother, Mrs. Matt Pakarinen, who has visited in Escanaba in the past.

McMillan

W.S.C.S. Meeting
McMILLAN — Mrs. Albert J. Mainville will be hostess to members of the Women's Society of Christian Service at her home Wednesday evening, November 1. Members are urged to attend as important business will be discussed. Visitors are welcome.

District Conference
Rev. and Mrs. John Brodie accompanied by Mrs. Frank Kirby, president of the local W.S.C.S., Mrs. Ulrich Gouin, Mrs. Samuel Simmerman, Mrs. Harry J. Skinner and Mrs. John Armstrong motored to St. Ignace Friday. Rev. Brodie visited with friends while the ladies attended the sub-district meeting of the W.S.C.S. which was held in the St. Ignace Methodist church. The meeting was one of six fall meetings scheduled for the six districts of the Northern Peninsula. Mrs. L. C. Shafoe is president of the St. Ignace W.S.C.S.

The morning session opened at 9:30 with Mrs. Alfred Anderson, district president presiding. The program included information about the W.S.C.S. work presented in the form of a sample meeting by the district officers followed by departmental conferences. Luncheon was served by the St. Ignace women in the church basement. The afternoon session opened at 1:30 with Hymn "Rise Up O Men of God" followed by meditation by the St. Ignace pastor. An interesting talk on Methodist Youth Fellowship was given by the St. Ignace MYF, president. Special music was given by young people of the hostess church. Film strips concerning youth work and vocations were shown.

In celebration of the 10th anniversary of the Women's Society of Christian Service, a birthday ceremony was presented by members of the St. Ignace W.S.C.S.

Name Election Board Members

Split Boards Will Be Used November 7

Members of the election boards which will serve at the general election in November were announced yesterday by City Clerk H. J. Henrikson.

Again this fall the split-board system is to be used with one board serving during the day, while a counting board comes on at 8 o'clock, immediately following the close of the polls. The chairman will serve both during the day and as head of the counters in his respective precinct.

The boards, listed by precinct, follow:

Precinct 1—Mrs. Alice Luce, Mrs. Anna Prass, Mrs. August Feldt and Mrs. Axel Holm. Counters are Mrs. Willard Norby, Mrs. Ira Zimmel and Lou LaComb.

Precinct 2—Rev. Theophil Hoffmann, Mrs. Hugh McMillan, Mrs. Frank J. Miller, Mrs. L. J. Smith.

Halloween Carnival At GHS Tuesday Night

The annual Halloween Carnival is to be held at Gladstone high school Tuesday evening.

It will be a three-phase program. In the kindergarten and first grades parties will be held in the rooms with the assistance of "room mothers". These parties are being sponsored by the Parent Teachers association.

At 1:45 o'clock in the afternoon there will be an all-school program of magic by Richard Oslund, talented Escanaba youth.

In the evening from 7 to 9 o'clock there will be a party at the school for intermediate grades and junior high students. There is to be a fish pond and various concessions and a program of comedy movie shorts will be shown.

At 9 o'clock there is to be a masquerade carnival dance for senior high school students. Prizes will be awarded for the best costumes.

During the intermission there will be vaudeville consisting of a take-off of a popular radio show.

The custom of holding Halloween carnivals was adopted at Gladstone high school several years ago and has proved very successful from several standpoints.

Counters are Mrs. Joe Butch, Mrs. J. S. Svard and Mrs. Emerald Vanderberg.

Precinct 3—Mrs. Rose Louis, Mrs. J. I. Chase, Mrs. Charles Cretten and Mrs. John Strand. The counters include Mrs. Donald Chase, Mrs. Larry Johnston and Mason Meyer.

Precinct 4—Mrs. Mayme Richards, Mrs. Emily Masterson, Mrs. Charles Coon and Mary Stock. Counters are Mrs. Mable Minor, Mrs. Francis Londo and Mrs. Ed Eldridge.

Regular members of the board are to receive $7.00 while chairman will be paid $8.00. Polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m.

'Shines' Deer, Pays $25 Fine

Outstater Has Bow In Automobile

George Messer of Milwaukee paid a fine of $25.00 and court costs of $7.80 Friday night when he was arraigned before Justice of Peace O. C. Estenson on a charge of using an artificial light in an attempt to kill deer.

Messer with three companions in his auto was "shining" along Forest Highway 13 about ten miles north of Nahma Junction when stopped by Conservation Officer Hugh J. Fisher of Nahma. An unstrung bow was found in the auto.

This was the equivalent of an unloaded firearm and Officer Fisher placed Messer under arrest.

Messer denied any intent to hunt or kill deer saying he and his friends were merely out to see if they could spot a few deer, but after getting an attorney out at midnight for counsel he entered a plea of nolo contendere to the charge and the penalty mentioned above was imposed.

Harvest Shower For Sisters To Be Held Thursday

All Saints Guild will hold its annual Harvest Shower for the Sisters of St. Joseph on Wednesday afternoon, November 1 in the church basement. The event will start at 2:30. All ladies of the parish and their friends are invited to attend. Each person attending is to bring something in the line of groceries. Games will be played and lunch served. The committee is composed of the Mmes. Fred Schram, chairman, assisted by Peter Schram, S. P. Schram, John Schmitt, Jos. Shandonay, D. J. Slye, Corinne Smith, Lionel Sabourin, Albin Steede and Charles St. Peter.

The social meeting on Friday evening was very well attended. After the business session was over, three reels of educational films were shown after which a social hour was held. Mrs. L. J. Smith was the winner in the bridge games, Mrs. E. T. Wilfong in five hundred, Mrs. Lee Alwood in smear and Mrs. John Van Damme in whist.

The following men have agreed to drive cars on the trip: Fred H. Hahne, Ralph Williams, Arthur DeMars, John Raffay, Edward V. Jackson, George Morton, George Babladelis and Dr. James H. Fyvie.

Final Plans For Football Trip To East Lansing Are Made By Local Group

Final plans for the community-sponsored football trip to East Lansing next Friday and Saturday were outlined at a committee meeting Saturday afternoon.

The trip will be made by 40 persons, including 30 high school grid players, eight adult car drivers, and Coach John Vieregger and Assistant Coach Robert Hussey. Expense of the trip will be paid out of funds raised by local subscription plus some funds allocated from gate receipts at the Manistique-Newberry game here in early October. Coach Vieregger, as treasurer for the community committee, will handle the disbursing of all funds spent for the journey.

Tickets for the game, to be played at the Michigan State College stadium between the Spartans and Indiana, have been received, Vieregger reported.

Eight Cars
Eight cars will take the football boys to East Lansing, leaving from Manistique high school at 7 a. m., Friday morning. Auto drivers and players are asked to assemble at the school at 6:45. There will be a stop for lunch at noon in Gaylord and the group is expected to reach East Lansing in late afternoon.

The cars will travel in a unit, with Coach Vieregger riding in the lead car.

The Manistique group will be lodged in a quonset hut on the campus Friday night, will be taken on a tour of the campus Saturday morning and will attend the game in the afternoon. They will leave shortly after the end of the game for the return trip.

Arrangements for accommodating and entertaining the Manistique group while at the college are being made by George Babladelis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Babladelis, of Manistique, who is a student there.

The following men have agreed to drive cars on the trip: Fred H. Hahne, Ralph Williams, Arthur DeMars, John Raffay, Edward V. Jackson, George Morton, George Babladelis and Dr. James H. Fyvie.

Thirty Boys
Football boys planning to make the trip are: Don Quick, Cletus Chartier, Jerry Popour, Jerry Heinz, George Bouschor, Iggy Babladelis, Bob Weber, Keith Jenkins, Bob Nelson, Delor La-

21st Annual U. P. Potato Show Opens Tomorrow

New Features Are Scheduled

Annual Banquet To Be Thursday

The twenty-first annual Upper Peninsula Potato Show will open in Manistique tomorrow, with arrangement of potato displays in the Lincoln school gymnasium.

Advance guard of officials and visitors expected at the three day show will be county agricultural agents from Upper Peninsula counties with potato samples. Samples will be neatly arranged on tables in the gymnasium where later they will be judged.

The show program, however, will not begin until Wednesday afternoon, and it will be concluded with the annual potato banquet Thursday night.

Meet Tonight

Final details of the program will be studied at a meeting of the show's executive committee at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the conference room of the State Savings Bank. The complete program, it is expected, will be made up following this meeting.

In addition to the usual program of exhibits, business meetings and banquets, the 1950 show will have several unusual features it is announced by Lester Richards, general chairman.

Included will be a queen's parade Thursday afternoon through the business district of Manistique a unique contest to identify Mr. Potato during the show, and an unusual presentation of the queen and her court at the annual banquet.

First item on the program will be two optional scenic tours Wednesday afternoon. That evening the annual queen's banquet will be held at the Elks temple, at which various county queens will be presented and judged. This will be followed by a dance for the queens, to be held in the Elks lodge room.

Queen's Parade

Starting Thursday noon a full program of activities will continue until the conclusion of the annual banquet. The queen's parade will begin at 12:30 p. m. at the Lincoln school and proceed through the westside and eastside business areas to the old gymnasium. It will be led by the Manistique Municipal band instead of the high school band, and it will also include a display of the national colors with a color guard. Various county queens will ride in open cars, and there also will be a display of farm equipment used in the production of potatoes.

Beginning at 1:30 p. m. two optional scenic tours will be provided for visitors. At the same time an educational program will be conducted at the court house, devoted to improved potato marketing and production practices.

The annual meeting of the Upper Peninsula Potato Growers' association will be held at 4 p. m. at the court house, with James Wieland, of Hiawatha township, president, presiding.

McIntyre Speaker

George McIntyre, assistant director of the state department of agriculture, will be the principal speaker at the annual banquet, scheduled for 6:30 p. m. Thursday evening in the high school gymnasium. The banquet program will be held in the auditorium following the meal.

Toastmaster for the event will be William J. Sheahan, prosecuting attorney.

Edward C. Meade, farm administrative assistant to Governor Williams, also will be on the speaking program. Congressman Charles E. Potter will officiate at the coronation of a new Upper Peninsula potato queen. Winners of the various potato contests will be announced at the program, and the identity of Mr. Potato and the person who correctly guessed it will be revealed.

Miss Betty Gustafson, of Ensign, 1949 Upper Peninsula potato queen, will be in Manistique during the show and will reign over its various activities until the new queen is crowned.

Four Classes Are Organized In Night School

Out of 14 classes offered, only four have been organized in the nine-weeks night school course which opened last week in Manistique high school, it is announced by A. F. Hall, superintendent.

During the two sessions last week, on Tuesday and Thursday nights, classes in sewing, bookkeeping, stenography and typing were formed. Only one to two persons enrolled for other courses offered and as a result no classes were organized.

Sewing will be taught on Thursday nights during the course, but this is subject to change if class members desire. Hall said. The three commercial classes, taught by J. Earl Cousineau, will be held on both Tuesday and Thursday nights. Mrs. Jessie Hollenbeck is the sewing instructor.

Classes are scheduled for two hours, 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock, on the nights specified.

Gulliver Girl Named Queen

Vera Haikkila Is Elected Saturday

Vera Haikkila, 17, attractive blonde daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eino Haikkila, of Gulliver, was elected Schoolcraft county potato queen at a meeting of the Schoolcraft county 4-H service club Saturday night at the Thompson town hall.

The Gulliver girl, who is a senior in Manistique high school, was selected from a group of seven township queen candidates chosen earlier last week by township home extension clubs. All members of the 4-H service club present at Saturday night's meeting except queen candidates, voted in the county queen contest.

Approximately 50 persons attended the session, including Fred Bernhardt, district 4-H club agent, who crowned Miss Haikkila county potato queen following her election. Also present at the meeting was Ila McGahan, of Cooks, 1949 county queen, who presented each of the queen candidates with a gift from the Schoolcraft County Agricultural society.

Other queen candidates were Carol Wolfe and Isadine Swagart, of Cooks; Donna Bashore and Ellen Brown, of Hiawatha; Wilma Hellstein of Manistique township; and Joyce McEachern, of Germfask township.

The potato theme dominated the program, decorations and refreshments at the club meeting. Francis Davidson, of Hiawatha, president of the service group, presided at the session. Other officers are Ila McGahan, vice president, and Sally Anderson, Manistique township, secretary-treasurer.

St. Jude's Circle — The St. Jude's Circle of the St. Anne's Altar Society will meet Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Frank Paquette. Mrs. Amanda Ferriek will be the assisting hostess. The meeting will start at 7:30 p. m.

Dartball Practice — Dartball players of the city are reminded of the first practice scheduled for tonight at the various churches, starting between 7:30 and eight o'clock. Players are to elect captains during the practice session, and the captains are slated to meet at 9 o'clock at the firehall to plan for the season's schedule.

Past Noble Grands — The Past Noble Grands club will meet at 8 p. m. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Robert Rogers, 129 South Fourth street. Pot luck lunch will be served. All members are urged to attend.

County MEA Has Publication, "The Kitchitikipian"

First issue of "The Kitchitikipian," official publication of Schoolcraft County's MEA, appeared last week. It is a mimeographed bulletin containing comments and news of interest to Schoolcraft county teachers.

The next issue will appear in December, with December 8 set as the deadline for the receipt of news items.

Publication of the bulletin is directed by the county MEA's publication committee, composed of Mrs. Bida Hough, chairman; Mrs. Muriel Cookson; Mrs. Katherine Beal and Miss Katherine Nelson.

Erich H. Warner, of Seney, is president of the county group. Other officers are Mrs. Ruth Englund, Germfask, vice president, and Mrs. Georgia Hettel, Gulliver, secretary-treasurer.

Home Fires Keep Burning

ELDRED, Ill.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fullerton and their son, Paul, are wondering whether the third time's the charm or whether they should find a new home site.

Two years ago, a fire destroyed their home near this small southwestern Illinois town. They lived for several months in a tent until their new home was built. But it was destroyed by a fire, too.

City Briefs

Mrs. Jack Gurno spent the week end in Milwaukee with her husband, who works aboard the steamer W. W. Holloway.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lynts have returned from a trip to Lower Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fisher, of Manistique, are the parents of a son, born Saturday morning at the Schoolcraft Memorial hospital. The baby weighed seven pounds, three and one-half ounces.

The altar and the wall behind it in the chapel of the Alcazar, famous Spanish palace, are decorated with clay tile paintings of Biblical scenes, which have been in place more than 400 years.

Three Accidents Friday, Saturday; One Person Hurt

Three automobile accidents occurred in the Manistique area Friday night and Saturday, resulting in slight injuries to one person.

Gene Allen, 19, of Manistique, received scratches on his head, nose and arms in a crash at 1 a. m., Saturday. He was treated at the Schoolcraft Memorial hospital.

Allen was hurt when the car in which he was riding, driven by Donald Tennant, 13, of Manistique, failed to make a sharp turn near the village of Cooks. The car went into a ditch and rolled over. State police reported that Tennant had been issued a summons for failure to have his car under control.

The road trouble was reported as the cause of the other two accidents, police said. At 6 p. m., Friday a car driven by Daniel Hayden developed tie rod trouble as Hayden was turning off US-2 on to the River Road, east of Manistique. Out of control, his car ran into a ditch and was slightly damaged.

At 1 p. m., Saturday a truck, driven by Victor Suboski, of Gulliver, developed tie rod trouble near the Soo Line overpass east of Manistique and crashed into a guard rail. The impact tore off the right front wheel of the truck.

MANISTIQUE INVITES

The People of The Upper Peninsula.. To the 21st Annual U. P. POTATO SHOW

MANISTIQUE, MICH.

Tuesday - Wednesday - Thursday Oct. 31, Nov. 1-2

Manistique is going "all out" to make the 21st annual Upper Peninsula Potato Show one of the best ever held.

In addition to the usual exhibits of potatoes, the educational program, and the banquets, the committee this year is providing special features never before introduced into an Upper Peninsula show.

Included among these will be a queen's parade scheduled for Thursday afternoon in which the various county queens will ride in open cars. The parade, according to present plans, will be led by a display of the national colors and the Manistique Municipal Band. Also included will be a review of machinery used in the production of a potato crop from the time of ground preparation until the harvest. Manistique dealers in farm implements have been asked to arrange this feature of the parade.

Also new is the unique contest during the three - day show, during which an opportunity will be offered to correctly identify Mr. Potato and receive an award of 500 pounds of Schoolcraft county's best potatoes.

An unusual method of presenting the new Upper Peninsula Potato Queen and her court also has been developed for the annual potato show banquet Thursday night. Fine programs have been arranged for both the annual show banquet Thursday night and for the queen's banquet Wednesday night.

The people of Manistique join in extending the community's invitation to the residents of the Upper Peninsula to attend the potato show. All will receive a hospitable, cordial welcome.

Hobby Club

The Lakeside Hobby Club met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Clarence Benson.

During the business meeting plans were discussed for the Christmas workshop.

Halloween decorations formed the background for the delicious lunch which was served.

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. Jack Archambeau and Mrs. Harry Hughson and daughter.

Senior Halloween Party

The Senior Young People of the Bethel Baptist church held a Halloween party Friday evening.

The young people met at the church at 7:30 p. m. and had a scavenger hunt. The winners of the hunt were Wesley Anderson, Donna Bashore, Lois Garvin, and Jean Carlson.

Following the hunt, the groups went to the Carlton Hollister home for their party. There they played numerous games and had a lunch. The decorations were of the Halloween theme.

There were over 20 who attended the party.

There are 80 million acres of "forest" land, mostly in the West, used for grazing by about 1 1/4 million cattle and 3 1/2 million sheep under special use permit.

Eskymos End Season With 26-0 Win Over Gladstone

Another successful Escanaba high school football season went into the record today as the Eskymos put away their grid togs after a hard-fought but well-earned 26-0 victory over Gladstone Saturday.

The victory, in which Tom Smith and Gerald Bolm, two unheralded juniors, stood out, gave Coach Jim Rouman's boys a record of five wins and three defeats for the year. The defeats were by three of the strongest teams in this area — Marinette, Menominee and Ironwood.

Smith, taking over the wing-back spot with Tom Schwabach in the hospital with a couple fractured vertebrae from the Marinette game and Bob Paterick laid up with pulled leg muscles, ground out 98 yards to spark his mates offensively.

Meanwhile, Bolm, an end, made himself a constant nuisance to the Gladstone offense, jamming play after play with his driving defensive play and recovering a fumble that set up Escanaba's first score.

Sharing honors with Smith and Bolm were Gladstone's Dallas Knecht and Jim Kee, whose passing gained 110 yards for Coach Donnie Protenhauer's team, and Don Timler and "Bobo" Cole whose defensive work stood out.

Gladstone Threatens
Escanaba scored early in the first quarter when the alert Bolm pounced on Duane Switzer's fumble on the Gladstone 30 and returned it to the 8 yard line before being dragged from behind.

On two plays, Casper Bartley juggled the ball to the one yard line and JoJo Johnston sneaked over for the score. Johnston's kick was no good.

Gladstone came roaring back on the next kickoff and put together three consecutive first downs on running plays and a 12 yard pass, Knecht to End Martin Becker. The threat ended, however, on the Escanaba 22 yard line when two passes were incomplete.

After a short punt by Kee late in the quarter, Escanaba drove to the two yard line on the running of Bartley and Paul Gundersman and a 12 yard pass, Johnston to Paul Baldwin.

Fumble Ends Drive
The almost certain score, however, failed to materialize when Johnston, attempting another center sneak, fumbled and Capt. Bill Sundling of Gladstone recovered on the one yard line.

The Eskymos scored three plays later. Dick Cota made a neat return of Kee's punt, returning it to Gladstone 19. Johnston pitched to Baldwin to the 14 and then Smith, on a flanker, was all alone over the goal line and gathered in the touchdown pass. Dick Shomin smashed for the extra point and Escanaba led, 13-0.

Gladstone put together a good running attack with a 15 yard pass, Knecht to Switzer, to drive deep into Escanaba territory again. But again two passes were incomplete and Escanaba took over on the 18 yard line.

Escanaba smashed back across the field, aided materially by a 26-yard power drive by Bartley, but lost the ball on a fumble on Gladstone's 24.

Half Ends Threat
Then the Braves made their best bid of the day on two long passes, Knecht to Back Jim LaLonde and to Center Dick Sidbeck and a 17 yard run by Knecht. Gladstone had the ball on Escanaba's 10 as the half ended.

The third quarter was scoreless but the Eskymos counted early in the fourth after Shomin had blocked Kee's punt on the Gladstone 36. With Smith ripping off good yardage (he gained 28 yards in three plays), the Eskymos planted the ball on the one foot line and Johnston called himself on another center sneak to score.

Mert McRae, who played a fine game, ran the end for the extra point.

McRae Scores
McRae, who had been hobbled by an ankle injury most of the season, teamed up with Bartley and Johnston on running plays as the Eskymos drove to their final score with the aid of an 18-yard Johnston to Smith pass. McRae negotiated the last yard to bring the score to 26-0.

Escanaba was knocking at Gladstone's door again as the game ended.

The Eskymos outdowned the Braves, 17 to 10, making 209 yards on the ground and 54 through the air. Gladstone netted 61 yards on the ground but outpassed the Eskymos, getting 110 yards on eight passes in 20 attempts. The alert Gladstone line recovered three Escanaba fumbles.

Knecht got 43 of Gladstone's 61 yards to 24 for Cole. Losses by

7-7 Tie With Gophers Fails To Pep Wolves

ANN ARBOR—(AP)—Michigan and Ohio State stood today as the only teams still unbeaten in the 1950 western conference football race. But even the most loyal Wolverine partisans grimaced to recall the means by which the two teams retained that distinction Saturday.

While the Buckeyes passed and ran to a phenomenal 83-21 victory over Iowa, Michigan had all it could do to salvage a 7-7 tie with a Minnesota outfit that was rated hopeless before the game.

With tough Illinois heading this way for a Saturday encounter, Coach Bennie Oosterbaan sought a way to restore poise to the Michigan club which seems to have little trouble getting into scoring position but is short on knockout punches.

With the Buckeyes was the outside chance that regular wingback Leo Koceski might be ready to meet the Illini and add a much-needed spark to the Michigan running game, which netted a miserable 46 yards against the Gophers.

Ortmann Connects
That fact alone might change the picture considerably.

With Chuck Ortmann throwing, Michigan's aerial game, good for 208 yards, was the Wolverines' best since a 261-yard performance against Minnesota in 1948.

Ortmann hit on 12 of his 27 throws for 186 yards and his best collegiate performance.

But with fullback Don Dufek and Koceski's substitute, Don Oldham, doing all the running, the Michigan attack lacked balance. Dufek made 63 yards in 15 tries and Oldham made 42 yards in nine tries. But other losses dropped Switzer, Kee and LaLonde brought the total down.

Following Smith's 98 yards for Escanaba was Bartley with 59, Paul Gundersman, with 31 and McRae with 28.

The Wolves rolled to four straight wins—over Pittsburgh, 41-7; Indiana, 26-14; Minnesota, 48-0; and Iowa, 83-21.

Tough Foes Ahead
Ohio State's five-game total is 225 points, an average of 45 per game.

The four remaining teams on Ohio State's program are their four closest pursuers—Wisconsin (3-1) Michigan (1-0-1), Northwestern (1-1) and Illinois (1-1). The Bucks' three league victories to date now are second division contenders.

The loser of Saturday's Michigan-Illinois battle probably will be knocked out of title contention and a Rose Bowl bid, even though Ohio State is ineligible to return to Pasadena this season. The Illini nicely disposed of Indiana, 20-0, straight wins—over Pittsburgh,

ped the net running yardage to 46.

Dufek Scores
The Wolverines rolled into Minnesota territory four times, losing the ball once on a fumble, once on a pass interception, and twice on downs.

Michigan penetrated the Gophers' ten yard line twice in the third period before making its lone touchdown. Dufek capped a 29-yard aerial attack with a one-yard line buck and Harry Allis converted.

Minnesota did most of the work in the final period, with a 12-yard George Hudak to John Cochran aerial in the last minute, good for a touchdown. Capt. Dave Skrein converted.

Michigan didn't lose the game. But this third tie in the 58-year old series was regarded much as a loss by the disappointed Michigan men. It broke a chain of seven straight wins over Minnesota and did little to add confidence to the 1950 Wolverines.

Injuries Light
Lowell Perry, sophomore end, caught five passes for 83 yards to boost his season's receiving total to 16 catches for 248 yards. And despite the blunted running attack Dufek turned in his usual good performance.

About the only thing Michigan was thankful for was the fact injuries were light.

But with fullback Don Dufek and Koceski's substitute, Don Oldham, doing all the running, the Michigan attack lacked balance.

Dufek made 63 yards in 15 tries and Oldham made 42 yards in nine tries. But other losses dropped yards for Coach Donnie Protenhauer's team, and Don Timler and "Bobo" Cole whose defensive work stood out.

Gladstone scored early in the first quarter when the alert Bolm pounced on Duane Switzer's fumble on the Gladstone 30 and returned it to the 8 yard line before being dragged from behind.

On two plays, Casper Bartley juggled the ball to the one yard line and JoJo Johnston sneaked over for the score. Johnston's kick was no good.

Gladstone came roaring back on the next kickoff and put together three consecutive first downs on running plays and a 12 yard pass, Knecht to End Martin Becker. The threat ended, however, on the Escanaba 22 yard line when two passes were incomplete.

After a short punt by Kee late in the quarter, Escanaba drove to the two yard line on the running of Bartley and Paul Gundersman and a 12 yard pass, Johnston to Paul Baldwin.

Fumble Ends Drive
The almost certain score, however, failed to materialize when Johnston, attempting another center sneak, fumbled and Capt. Bill Sundling of Gladstone recovered on the one yard line.

The Eskymos scored three plays later. Dick Cota made a neat return of Kee's punt, returning it to Gladstone 19. Johnston pitched to Baldwin to the 14 and then Smith, on a flanker, was all alone over the goal line and gathered in the touchdown pass. Dick Shomin smashed for the extra point and Escanaba led, 13-0.

Gladstone put together a good running attack with a 15 yard pass, Knecht to Switzer, to drive deep into Escanaba territory again. But again two passes were incomplete and Escanaba took over on the 18 yard line.

Escanaba smashed back across the field, aided materially by a 26-yard power drive by Bartley, but lost the ball on a fumble on Gladstone's 24.

Half Ends Threat
Then the Braves made their best bid of the day on two long passes, Knecht to Back Jim LaLonde and to Center Dick Sidbeck and a 17 yard run by Knecht. Gladstone had the ball on Escanaba's 10 as the half ended.

The third quarter was scoreless but the Eskymos counted early in the fourth after Shomin had blocked Kee's punt on the Gladstone 36. With Smith ripping off good yardage (he gained 28 yards in three plays), the Eskymos planted the ball on the one foot line and Johnston called himself on another center sneak to score.

Mert McRae, who played a fine game, ran the end for the extra point.

McRae Scores
McRae, who had been hobbled by an ankle injury most of the season, teamed up with Bartley and Johnston on running plays as the Eskymos drove to their final score with the aid of an 18-yard Johnston to Smith pass. McRae negotiated the last yard to bring the score to 26-0.

Escanaba was knocking at Gladstone's door again as the game ended.

The Eskymos outdowned the Braves, 17 to 10, making 209 yards on the ground and 54 through the air. Gladstone netted 61 yards on the ground but outpassed the Eskymos, getting 110 yards on eight passes in 20 attempts. The alert Gladstone line recovered three Escanaba fumbles.

Knecht got 43 of Gladstone's 61 yards to 24 for Cole. Losses by

Spilling The Dope

This sports column writing business is fascinating . . . you never know what's going to slap back and hit you in the face . . . and it's usually the innocently-written things that do.

For instance, once years ago we were writing about a high school problem . . . we commented that we thought one thing was correct to do but that the school thought another way . . . and we wound up with the old saw: "But it's all in the way you look at it; a mudhole looks good to a pig."

Imagine our surprise, then, the next day when we got a bitter telephone call: "What do you mean, calling our high school a bunch of pigs?"

Now comes another one . . . while watching the Manistique-Marquette game a couple weeks ago, we were struck with the fact that there were four boys of Greek ancestry playing in one game . . . that, of course, is unusual in this part of the country where people of Greek descent are not numerous.

So, using of popular cliché, we wrote a facsimile line in the column, saying: "If the game looked like a lot of Greek to some folks, it may have been because of Marquette's two Karabetos, one Papadakis and Manistique's Pabladelis."

Imagine, again, our surprise, when we open our mail and find a letter from a Manistique player, saying: "Even though we have an American Greek on our team, who is one of our best players and a very fine fellow, we don't appreciate the insults . . . and if you must hand out insults, you had better clean up your own backyard first."

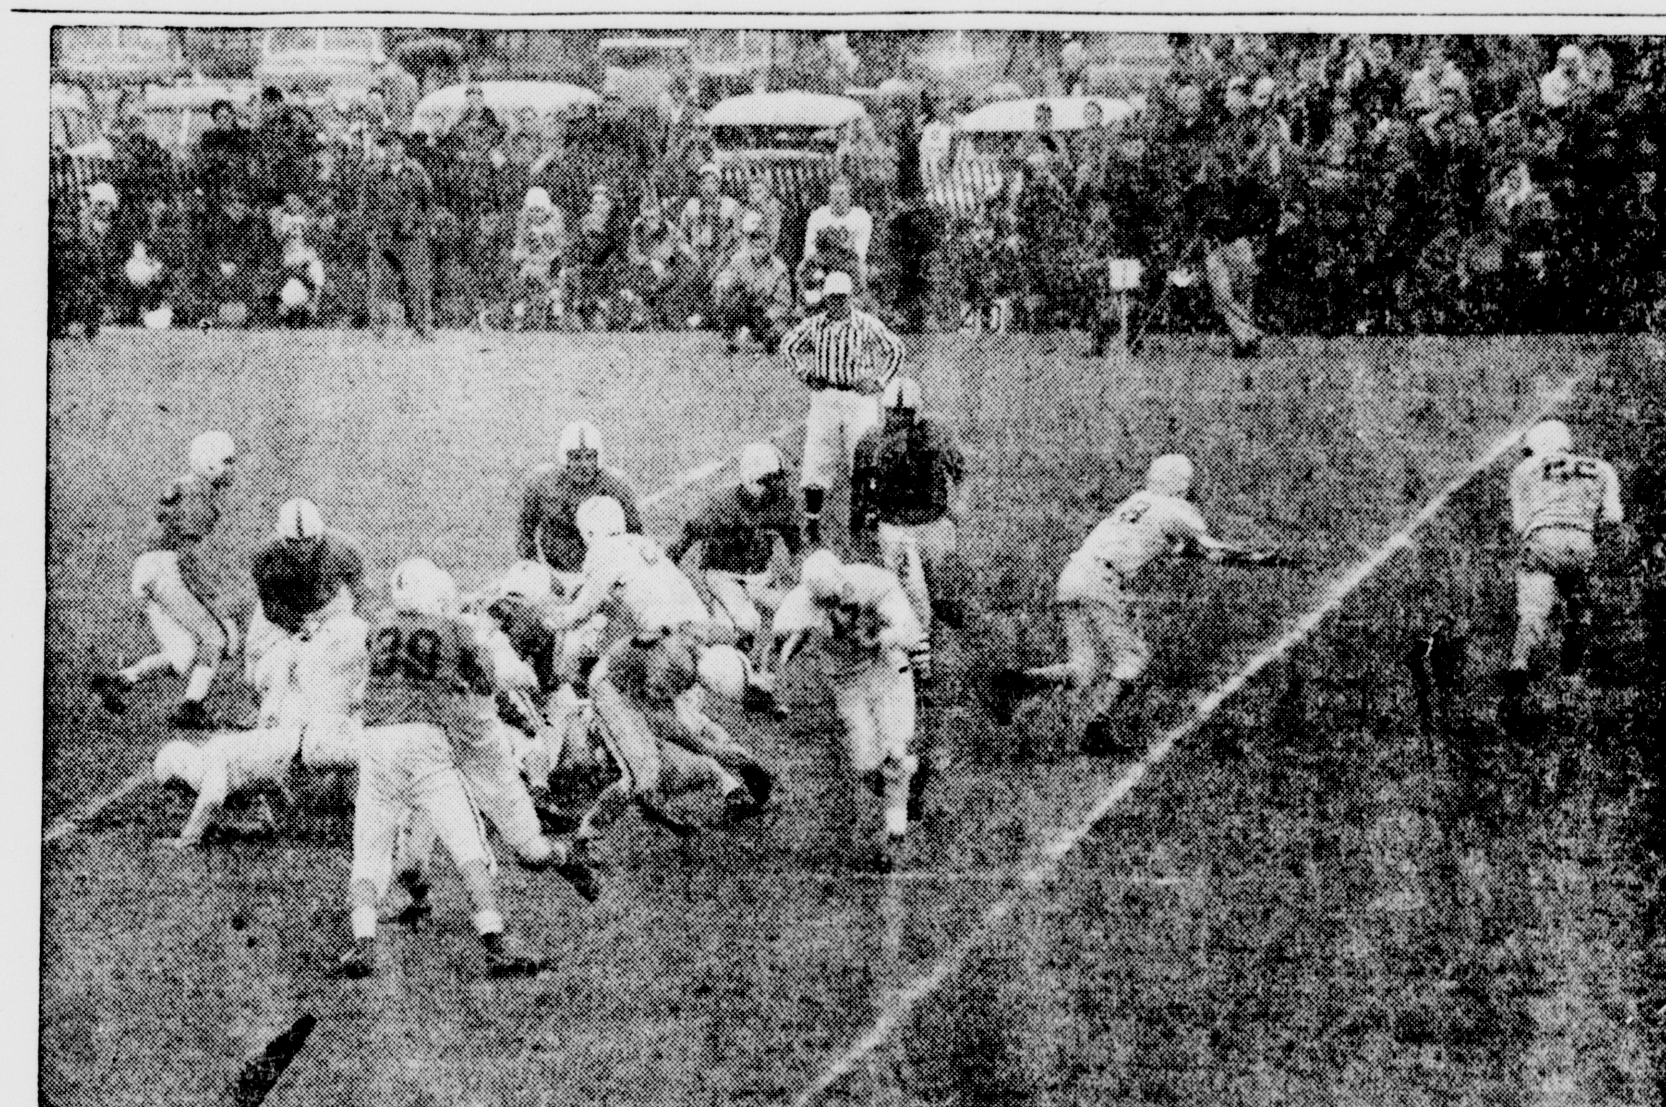

How anyone could read "insults" into that line is more than we can figure out . . . but then perhaps we don't understand what we're writing about!

For the benefit of the Manistique player who wrote us, let us say it is no insult in America to be identified by your ancestry.

After all, Indians were the only non-foreign born Americans. The rest of us Americans are transplanted Swedes, Germans, Greeks, Irish, Italians and what have you.

Personally, we're not insulted at being called a Swede. And we don't believe that Iggy Babladelis (or the Marquette boys) is insulted at any reference to the country of his fathers.

The important thing is that we are good Americans and good sports.

Paul Baldwin (9), Eskymo end, is standing at the left. Dick Johnson (3) and Dick Shomin (with the mask) are tailing the play. The official in the background is Tim Barry of Vulcan, who said it was his last game after more than 25 games of officiating. (Photo by Bernie Schultz with Daily Press telephoto camera)

Rampaging Buckeyes Look Like Class Of U. S.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Southern Methodist certainly played a dirty trick on Ohio State's Big Ten rivals by whipping the Buckeyes, 32-27, last Sept. 30. Nobody, then, knew how mad the Bucks got from that Mustang's kick.

Today, exactly one month later, the Scarlet and Grey hurricane of Columbus threatens to make a shambles of what promised to be a nice, respectable three-way league race between the Bucks and Illinois.

It's true that Ohio State has to meet Illinois (Nov. 18) and Michigan (in a Nov. 25 grand finale), but with three straight loop victories ground out with an avalanche of 157 points, including last Saturday's 83-21 plastering of Iowa, the Bucks look mighty like shoo-in.

Meet Wildcats Next
In next Saturday's four-game Big Ten card, Ohio State takes its touchdown-crazy horde to Evans-ton against Northwestern.

Then, the Bucks meet Wisconsin the following Saturday before wading into the real main attractions of the Big Ten season—against Illinois and arch-rival Michigan, who this Saturday will try to cut each other's throat at Ann Arbor.

There hasn't been a team with Ohio State's scoring proclivities since the loop was a pup.

The 83-21 massacre of Iowa was the wildest conference spree since Michigan snowed Chicago under 85 points in 1939. But that hardly rates comparison, the Maroons then being on the verge of complete grid anemia.

The Bucks have rolled to four straight wins—over Pittsburgh, western (1-1) and Illinois (1-1). The Bucks' three league victories to date now are second division contenders.

The loser of Saturday's Michigan-Illinois battle probably will be knocked out of title contention and a Rose Bowl bid, even though Ohio State is ineligible to return to Pasadena this season. The Illini nicely disposed of Indiana, 20-0,

straight wins—over Pittsburgh,

Ghosts (Not Halloween) Gallop As Trojans Lose

Hoosiers Next As MSC Defeats Irish, 36-33

EAST LANSING—(AP)—Michigan State, like a burnt child, promised today to sheer away from the traditional post-Notre Dame letdown.

The Spartans, upset by Maryland after surprising Michigan, pounded out a bitterly-fought 36-33 victory over Notre Dame Saturday. This weekend they meet a pass-potent Indiana eleven, and are wary of another let-down.

"We hope to profit from the mistakes of others," MSC Coach Biggie Munn said. "No other team to beat Notre Dame this year came back the next week."

"We intend to do so." The victory, achieved by the margin of Bob Carey's second period field goal, was the third loss of the year for the Irish. They had lost earlier to Purdue and Indiana, both of which suffered defeats the following week.

"We may have played our best game of the year," Munn said, in indicating reasons why his Spartans might be able to break the string. "But we were not pitched as high as we were for Michigan."

He promised "practice as usual," this week, although the reports of end Coach Earle Edwards, who scouted Indiana, are sure to bear sharp scrutiny. The MSC defense also is assured some more intense workouts. In defeating Notre Dame, the Spartans uncorked a blasting ground offense, and also exhibited a poise rare in a team of more than half sophomores.

The touchdowns were scored by Vince Pisano, sophomore right half who rolled to 124 yards on the ground; Doug Weaver, who recovered a punt blocked by Jim King; Don Mc Auliffe, and sizzling Sonny Grandelius, who romped over the goal line twice.

Carey, besides his field goal, kicked three of five conversions. Although they gave up the first touchdown to Notre Dame, the Spartans charged back to roll up a 20-6 margin by the end of the first period. They trailed briefly in the final period, but quickly slapped out a fifth marker to ice the game.

D-E League Calls Meeting On Wednesday
It's basketball time. An organization meeting of the Central D-E league will be held Wednesday night at 8 o'clock at Rapid River high school to make final plans for the basketball season.

Rapid River is defending champion in the eight team league which also includes Nahma, Cooks, Rock, Powers, Bark River-Harris, Trenary and Perkins.

All basketball coaches and other school officials of the league are invited, said Norman Slough, Rapid River coach.

St. Joe, Barr Graders Tied
Going into the last week of play in the Junior football league, St. Joe graders and Barr school are tied for first place.

This week a tournament will be held with the winner of the tournament playing the winner of the league. The championship game will be played at the Escanaba athletic field Saturday afternoon. All parents are invited to attend.

The tournament schedule follows:
Monday—Webster vs. St. Anns.
Tuesday—St. Joe vs. Barr; championship of league.
Wednesday—Winner of St. Anns-Webster vs. St. Joe.
Thursday—Barr vs. Jefferson.
Friday—Winner of Wednesday-Thursday game for championship.
Saturday—Winner of tournament plays winner of league for trophy.

Nine Teams Still On Unbeaten List
NEW YORK—(AP)—Nine major teams are among the 37 college elevens which have yet to lose or tie a football game this season.

They are Southern Methodist, Army, Oklahoma, Kentucky, California, Miami (Fla.), Princeton, Wyoming and Loyola, (Calif.).

Three of the majors—Cornell, Northwestern and Wichita—were among the 18 which had perfect records soiled last week-end.

Cornell was beaten by Princeton, 27-0. Northwestern fell before Wisconsin, 14-13. Wichita lost to Houston, 46-6.

Gustav's Adolphus, a Minnesota school, was the country's winningest team, with eight victories.

(By Daily Press Ghost Writer)
You've heard of the Galloping Ghost?

There were 22 galloping ghosts at Memorial field Saturday night as St. Joseph high school and Stephenson rounded up the 950 football season in a pea-soup fog so thick that players would have been quipped with ador. The final score? Oh, yes. Stephenson out-ghosted the Trojans, 53-7.

But the fog was the thing. From the sidelines at midfield on kickoffs, players at the far ends of the field at times were invisible. The referee's whistle could be heard like the "twee" of ship's whistles in a fog blanked bay. Then there would be the thud of cleated toe against the ball.

For a moment as it crossed near the midfield stripe, the ball would be faintly visible like a flying saucer before it disappeared to the outer extremity of the field.

Guessing Game
It reminded you all the world of the line in the poem: "Whither midst falling dew . . . dost thou pursue thy solitary way?"

But to get back to get out of this fog long enough to tell you about

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to express our heartfelt thanks and sincere appreciation to all the kind neighbors, relatives and friends who so kindly assisted us during our recent bereavement. The death of our beloved husband and father. We are especially grateful to those who served as pallbearers, and to the Engineers Union Local 324, to the Hamer Bros. Inc. of Detroit, Mich., to those who donated the use of their cars, to those who sent floral and spiritual offerings and expressions of sympathy, and the fellow workers, friends and neighbors of Detroit, Mich., who so kindly sent offerings. The memory of these acts of kindness will always remain with us.
Signed:
MRS. GEORGE BETTIGA AND DAUGHTERS.
7555-303-1f

We extend our heartfelt thanks to those who made donations or contributed in any way to make our Lord's Acre Auction a success.
Signed:
